

ABSTRACT

According to some embodiments, a portion of a network packet is received, a sequence number is retrieved, a sequence number is passed to a sequence election unit, a signal to process the packet is received from the sequence election unit, and processing is 5 performed on the packet in response to receipt of the signal.